

Steve Sinks

Steve Sinks is a Technical Sales Rep with Orenco Systems® Inc., a wastewater equipment manufacturing firm based in Sutherlin, Oregon. In this role, he works with customers to familiarize them with Orenco's products, assists customers with determining proper equipment selection, and handles quote requests and purchase orders. He also helps with troubleshooting residential wastewater systems.

Previously, Steve was the Senior Pump Technician and Pump Purchaser for Orenco. He started with the company in 2000 in electronics assembly before transitioning to custom control panels and then customer service. Prior to joining Orenco, Steve gained experience with controls systems in the U.S. Marine Corps and at the Department of Defense, where he developed and tested several types of guidance software for aircraft.