March Madness Cross Connection Control 3 -Part Series Virtual Zoom Platform

This will provide valuable information regarding backflow requirements and the potential costs of failing to comply with regulatory requirements. In addition, this series will demonstrate proven tactics for successful survey of customer cross connections and provide a demonstration of converting record keeping from paper to a cross connection software. Those who attend this course will leave with tools to implement at their work establishment to better manage cross connections through survey and record keeping and will understand the basic legal ramifications for not following through on systems responsibilities to protect water quality and public health and safety.
