Dylan O'Connell / Michael Eisner

Shoring Specialist

We have both worked at D.P. Nicoli Inc. for 7 years each as shoring specialist with a heavy focus on safety and shoring rules and regulations. We have each taught over 60 classes for small to large excavation companies throughout Northwest Oregon and Southwest Washington and continue to grow that number and educate. We gained our knowledge through being in the field 5 days a week, visiting with customers doing jobsite visits and providing shoring solutions for their excavations. We feel very fortunate to work for company and be in a position where safety is our focus.

The course content

At D.P. Nicoli, Inc your safety is our first concern. In our pursuit of your safety and those around you, DPN offers Competent Person Training. This class offers Supervisors, Foreman, and Laborers training of OSHA'S Subpart P which outlines terms and definitions of trench excavation, soil analysis, proper shoring and shielding installation, benching and sloping charts as well as general jobsite safety and duties of a competent person. This class is presented by using PowerPoint, videos, and supporting materials such as the Subpart P handbook in a format where attendees interaction is necessary.

A course typically takes 4-6 hours and we provide everyone with a card to put in their wallet stating they have taken the course.
