

Johnathon Honeywell

Johnathon Honeywell is a Sales Engineer for Orenco Water™, a division of Orenco Systems, Inc., which engineers and manufactures innovative infrastructure solutions. In this role, he works to form relationships with potential customers, understand their needs, and recommend Orenco solutions that can help with their wastewater collection and treatment projects.

Johnathon joined Orenco in 2020 and found that his previous work experience and background in mechanical engineering helped him to quickly become a knowledgeable resource for his customers. He graduated from the University of North Florida and has lived in Florida, Utah, and Oregon. When he's not on the job, he enjoys long-distance running, skiing, and surfing.