

Steve Sinks

Steve Sinks is an Account Manager with Orenco Systems, a company based in Sutherlin, Oregon, that engineers and manufactures innovative infrastructure solutions. In this role, he works closely with customers in the northwestern United States to provide support, training, and technical expertise regarding wastewater treatment systems and products. In Steve's 25 years with Orenco, he's also served as the Senior Controls and Pumps Specialist and the Senior Pump Technician and Pump Purchaser.

As a veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps and employee of the U.S. Department of Defense, Steve previously developed and tested guidance weapons systems for aircraft. In his spare time, he loves watching a variety of sports.